Charges filed on Skolnick dismissed

Disorderly conduct charges against legal researcher Sherman Skolnick stemming from the Aug. 9 disruption of a television talk show were dismissed Tuesday.

Circuit Court Judge James Murphy acted after Asst. Corporation Counsel Arthur Mooradian told him WSNS-TV (Channel 44) had decided not to press charges. The show was disrupted briefly when Skolnick appeared in the studio and tried to question the featured guest, Conspiracy 7 defendant Rennie Davis.
